RE: Triennial District Wellness Policy Assessment

Every three years, the District is required to perform an assessment of the District Wellness Policy (Item JHCA) and report the results to the public. The policy was reviewed by administration and no changes were recommended. Each building principal performed a self-assessment on the following three items:

1. The extent to which their building was in compliance with the District Wellness Policy,
2. The progress their building has made in attaining the goals of the District Wellness Policy, and,
3. Where their building needs to improve to be in compliance with the District Wellness Policy.

All the buildings came out very well in the self-assessment. Each building principal will continue to strive to make sure that the District Wellness Policy is implemented in their building.
